Dear Professor Choi,

Thank you for submitting your article which is in the process of type setting. In the meantime, I would like to ask the following favor.

Recently we decided that we terminate the service of free reprints to authors in near future. The main reason is that, as many of us find, the

PDF file usually suffices for all purposes and hard-copy reprints have little use these days despite the cost, which is nontrivial.

If you agree, we would like to start this procedure from the next volume. Please be assured that we provide the PDF file of your paper as it appears in the journal for your personal use.

This is a deviation from what was described in our submission policy when you submitted the manuscript, so please let me know if you may or may not agree receiving only the PDF file from us.

Sincerely yours,

Yoshihiro Tonegawa
Managing Editor

Dear Sir,

Thank you for informing about the reprints in detail.

Because it is my first monumental paper, I personally hope to get the reprints, and also I am willing to pay the cost of reprints.

Sincerely,
Ikhan Choi.
